1 WHO WE ARE

Who we are

We only work with law firms. And we are measured on instructions, not traffic.

legalbuzz is a legal-only growth partner. We get law firms found on Google, on the map, and in AI answers, then we make sure the enquiry turns into an instruction. No restaurants, no plumbers, no e-commerce. Every page, campaign and strategy we write is for law firms and the people who instruct them.

Law firms only. Always.

Every client we have is a law firm. We know what a contractor chasing an unpaid valuation types at 11pm, what makes them pick up the phone, and what your regulator will and will not let you say.

Proof: every firm on this page is a law firm.

We started in sales, not SEO.

Before legalbuzz we ran Conveyancer Plus, a sales team for law firms that only got paid when an enquiry became an instruction. We still think that way: every enquiry is tracked to see which ones become paying work.

Proof: 58% enquiry-to-instruction conversion at Conveyancer Plus.

We get firms named by AI.

AI visibility is not a line item for us, it is the core of the work. We track what ChatGPT and Google's AI say about you every month, and which enquiries come from them.

Proof: 0% to 29% of a client's enquiries from ChatGPT in three months.

Our story

01

A City of London law firm

WHERE WE STARTED

PJ Singh and George Levett learned the trade inside a leading City firm: how legal work is won, priced and delivered.

02

Conveyancer Plus

WHAT WE BUILT

A pay-on-success sales operation for law firms. We sat on the phones, turned enquiries into instructions and hit 58% conversion. We only got paid when the firms did.

03

WHERE WE ARE NOW

We watched great firms lose work simply because nobody could find them. So we took that performance DNA and pointed it at search, maps and AI. We now work with 40+ firms across the UK and Australia, including specialist dispute firms facing exactly the shift you are.

What we have delivered for firms like yours

+300%

Signature Law (family law, Essex): enquiries in six months. A family-law-led firm in Romford. We built the local and service content, fixed the site and the map presence. +3,980% keywords ranking on Google, local family law pages on page one.

33

Deen & Co (employment law, London): enquiries in one month, three months in. A boutique specialist, like you. 29% of its enquiries now come from ChatGPT. Google clicks 62 to 1,021 a month, 7,017 AI citations, 25x the nearest competitor.

+413%

J Scott & Co (conveyancing, Maidenhead): enquiries in six months, from 15 to 77 a month. ChatGPT now names J Scott first for a conveyancer in Maidenhead. Google visits 50 to 728 a month, named in 687 AI answers in one month.

That is the answer we want ChatGPT and Google to give about My Commercial Lawyers when someone in London asks for a construction dispute solicitor, or when a business anywhere in the UK, or overseas, asks who can help with an adjudication, an unpaid invoice or a breach of contract.

Be seen. Be trusted. Be chosen.

Every legalbuzz campaign runs in three stages, in the order a client makes the decision. Here is what each one means for My Commercial Lawyers.

01

Be seen

Can Google, Maps and AI find you?

Fix the site, build the London construction disputes pillar, consolidate the overlapping service pages.

Today: Rankings Awaiting SE Ranking export

02

Be trusted

Does AI recommend you?

Teach AI who your barristers and solicitors are, where you are, and that you are regulated. Profiles, schema, UK legal citations, reviews.

Today: No lawyer on the site AI can verify

03

Be chosen

Do they call you, not the firm next door?

A site built to convert: barrister-led credentials and reviews up front, tap-to-call in the header, the "scope and fee before work begins" promise on every page.

Today: Testimonials with no review platform behind them; services start on screen six of a phone

Why Be chosen matters today: When someone does land on your site, the strongest proof you have is buried. Client testimonials sit on the homepage with nothing behind them that Google or AI can check, the regulatory status that sets you apart (barristers authorised by the Bar Standards Board for Direct Public Access and to conduct litigation) is only in the footer, and on a phone the phone number in the top bar cannot be tapped. The new site puts that proof up front on every page, so visits turn into calls and instructions.

In plain English: Be seen means Google and AI can find you. Be trusted means they recommend you. Be chosen means the client calls you, not the firm next to you.

Not an agency. A growth partner.

An agency sells you activity and sends a report. A growth partner sits on your side of the table and is measured on the same thing you are: new clients, instructions and revenue, by service and by location.

A TYPICAL AGENCY REPORTS	LEGALBUZZ REPORTS
Impressions	Enquiries per month, by location
Keyword rankings	Free consults booked and attended
Website traffic	Enquiry-to-instruction rate
Number of blog posts	Calls and direction requests from Google Maps
Backlink counts	Times ChatGPT and Google AI recommend you

Rankings are only useful if they turn into phone calls. We track every step from search to signed client, so you can see exactly what you are getting for your money.

In plain English: Your site is not the problem most firms have. It is fresh, long-form and already uses FAQ and article schema. What it does not do is tell Google and AI the three things they need before they recommend a law firm: where you are, which named lawyers stand behind the advice, and that independent sources agree. Fix those and the content you are already publishing starts earning citations instead of just traffic.

What we heard

Disputes only, commercial and construction.

That is a strength, not a limitation. Specialist firms do not win by sounding like every other law firm. They win by owning the questions only a specialist can answer, and AI engines reward that even more than Google does.

Barrister-led, with litigation solicitors.

Authorised by the Bar Standards Board for Direct Public Access and to conduct litigation (reference 191504). Very few firms in your market can say that. Today it lives in the footer.

London and Croydon first.

You already have Croydon and City of London pages. What is missing is the structure that ties them into one London pillar, and an address Google can put on the map.

Already publishing.

Forty guides, twenty-two of them in 2026, all with article schema. You would start from a body of work, not from nothing. The job is to sign it, connect it and get it cited.

Overseas clients are a genuine difference.

Pages for international clients, overseas law firms and clients in Oman. Very few UK dispute practices target that. AI answers for "UK dispute lawyer for an overseas company" are where you can lead.

Why the site isn't ranking as it should

Seven findings from the crawl, in the order we would fix them. None of them is a criticism of the firm. They are the gap between a site built to describe a business and a site built to be found and cited.

1. No address that Google or AI can place on a map

The fix: One verified office address (or a service-area profile), stated identically on the site, in LegalService and LocalBusiness schema and on Google Business Profile, plus areaServed for London, Croydon and the UK.

What we found: You have pages for Croydon, the City of London and "near me" searches, but no office address appears on the contact page, and your LegalService schema has no address, phone, opening hours, geo or area served. The only address on the site is the registered address in the footer (7 Bell Yard, London WC2A 2JR).

The fix: One verified office address (or a service-area profile), stated identically on the site, in LegalService and LocalBusiness schema and on Google Business Profile, plus areaServed for London, Croydon and the UK.

2. Seven pages competing for the same London construction search

The fix: One London construction disputes hub, with each remaining page owning one distinct question (JCT, adjudication, unpaid invoices, City of London). Merge and redirect the rest.

What we found: Construction disputes, Construction dispute resolution, Construction law in London, Construction law firm London, Construction lawyer City of London, Construction solicitor near me and the JCT London page all target near-identical London construction terms, plus two adjudication pages (Construction adjudication advice and Construction adjudication UK). Google has to guess which one to rank, and usually ranks none of them well.

The fix: One London construction disputes hub, with each remaining page owning one distinct question (JCT, adjudication, unpaid invoices, City of London). Merge and redirect the rest.

3. Pages that should not be in Google or in front of AI

The fix: Noindex and remove the two utility pages from the sitemap, retire or redirect the off-topic post, and fix the slug with a redirect.

What we found: The thank-you page and an internal "Trello Instructions" page are set to index and listed in your sitemap. A post titled "What are the 5 Cs of food safety: UK business guide" sits among your dispute guides. One post lives at a broken slug: /construction-disputesknowwhereyoustand/.

The fix: Noindex and remove the two utility pages from the sitemap, retire or redirect the off-topic post, and fix the slug with a redirect.

4. Schema that says the wrong things

The fix: Rebuild the entity schema: LegalService with address, phone, hours, areaServed and the BSB reference; Person schema for every barrister and solicitor; sameAs to LinkedIn, the Bar Standards Board register and legal directories.

What we found: The LegalService schema carries an empty review list and images named "Environmental-and-Safety-Violations" and "Third-Party-Funding". The Organization contact point links to /contact-us/, which redirects to the homepage. Your LinkedIn company page is linked in the header but missing from the schema's sameAs list.

The fix: Rebuild the entity schema: LegalService with address, phone, hours, areaServed and the BSB reference; Person schema for every barrister and solicitor; sameAs to LinkedIn, the Bar Standards Board register and legal directories.

5. No lawyer behind the advice

The fix: A profile page for each barrister and solicitor, with call or admission date, regulator, specialism and cases; every guide authored or reviewed by a named lawyer, with a last-reviewed date.

What we found: All 40 guides are signed by "Krystal Blackwell", a WordPress author account with a Gravatar placeholder image and no sameAs links. That name does not appear on your team page. The team page lists 18 people, but every "View Full Profile" link points back to the team page itself.

The fix: A profile page for each barrister and solicitor, with call or admission date, regulator, specialism and cases; every guide authored or reviewed by a named lawyer, with a last-reviewed date.

6. An AI file that leaves out every page that wins work

The fix: Rewrite llms.txt by hand: who you are, who regulates you, where you are, your services and locations first, then the guides.

What we found: Rank Math has generated an llms.txt file, which is good. But it lists only the sitemap and the blog posts. None of your 24 service and location pages appear in it, so the file written for AI assistants describes you as a blog.

The fix: Rewrite llms.txt by hand: who you are, who regulates you, where you are, your services and locations first, then the guides.

7. Testimonials with nothing behind them

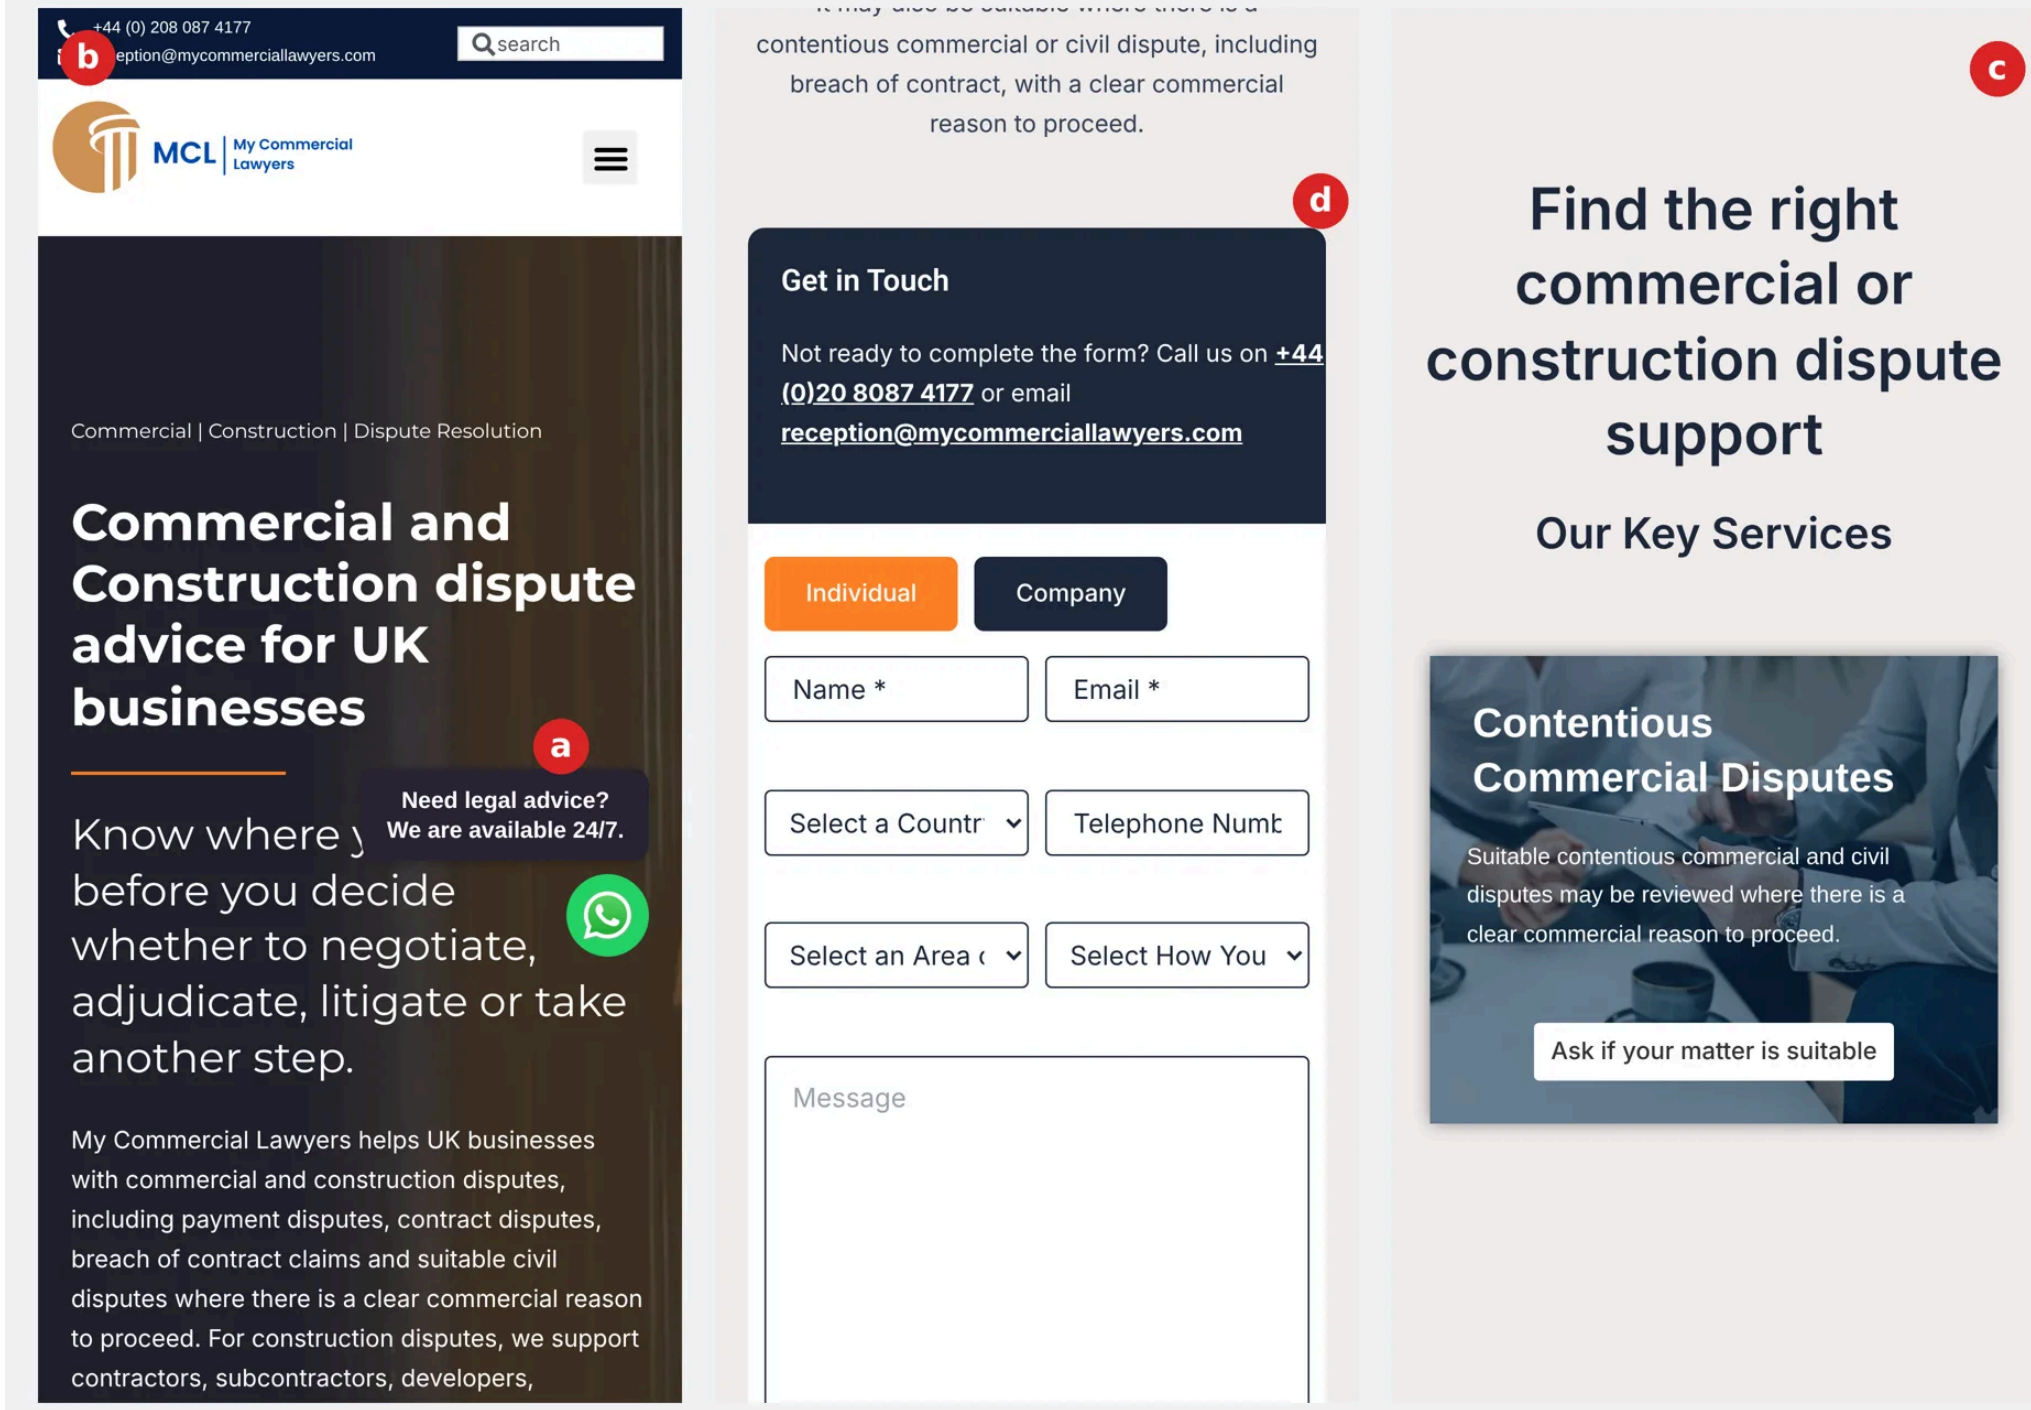

The fix: Start a review flow to Google and one legal review platform, mark up genuine reviews, and replace the "No 1" claim with a factual, verifiable one.

What we found: The homepage quotes clients by name, but there is no link to Google reviews or any third-party review platform, and no Review schema. Separately, one service page title says "No 1 Trusted Construction Solicitors UK", a superlative a regulator may ask you to substantiate.

The fix: Start a review flow to Google and one legal review platform, mark up genuine reviews, and replace the "No 1" claim with a factual, verifiable one.

The mobile test: what a client on a phone actually sees

Most people with a dispute look for help on a phone, often outside working hours. We rendered the site on an iPhone-sized screen and ran Google's Lighthouse test on the homepage. Four things stand out.

mycommerciallawyers.com on an iPhone-sized screen, 13 October 2026.

a A chat bubble sits on the headline
"Need legal advice? We are available 24/7" covers the line that says what you do.

b The top-bar phone number cannot be tapped
The first tap-to-call link is on screen two.

c Twenty-one screens long
Services ("Our Key Services") do not start until screen six.

d A long form before any service
Seven fields, three of them drop-downs, plus a Trello consent box, ahead of what you actually do.

Most people look for a dispute lawyer on a phone. This is the first impression they get.

The speed test: Lighthouse

Lighthouse is Google's own page-quality test. Scores are out of 100; Google treats anything under 50 as poor. Mobile is the one that matters, because it is the one Google ranks you on.

Every speed measure, explained

Server response, load time, blocking time, page weight and more

MEASURE (MOBILE)	MCL	GOOGLE'S TARGET	WHAT IT MEANS
Performance score	45 / 100	90+	Poor. The page is slow to become usable on a phone.
Server response time	0.12 seconds	Under 0.6 s	Good. The caching works; the problem is what the page then loads.
Largest content paint	5.7 seconds	Under 2.5 s	The main content takes nearly six seconds to appear.
Total blocking time	2.1 seconds	Under 0.2 s	Over two seconds where taps do nothing. 349 KB of unused JavaScript is loading.
Page weight	4.1 MB	Under 1.5 MB	Images in old formats: 1.8 MB could be saved by converting them alone.
Accessibility	87 / 100	90+	Contrast failures, form fields and drop-downs without labels, headings out of order.
Best practices	79 / 100	90+	Third-party cookies and browser issues logged on load.
SEO (technical)	100 / 100	90+	The basics pass. This score does not measure location, authorship or entity signals, which is where the real gap is.

Mobile speed against the firms ranking for your London searches

FIRM	SCORE	DETAILS
Awaiting SE Ranking export
My Commercial Lawyers	45	(server response 0.12s, largest content paint 5.7s)

Why this matters for the plan. Every speed problem above comes from the same place: an Elementor and Pro Elements build on the Astra theme, loading 4 MB of scripts and uncompressed images. Patching it costs nearly as much as rebuilding it. That is why Section 8 includes a new AI-ready site at no cost.

4 WHY GOOGLE AND AI DO NOT TRUST THE SITE YET

Why Google and AI do not trust the site yet

Legal advice on disputes is what Google calls a "Your Money or Your Life" topic: advice that can change a business's finances or survival. For those topics Google and the AI assistants apply their strictest test of who wrote a page and whether they can be believed. Google calls it E-E-A-T.

E-E-A-T in one minute

Experience

Has the author actually done this? First-hand detail only a practising barrister or solicitor would know. Adjudication guides written from the practice, not paraphrased from the TCC guide.

Expertise

Is the author qualified to say it? A named barrister or solicitor on every page of advice, with call or admission date, regulator and specialism, linked to a profile that proves it.

Authoritativeness

Do others recognise them for it? Chambers listings, the Bar Standards Board register, the Law Society, legal directories, press and other sites that say the same thing about the same person.

Trust

Can the reader rely on this page today? Dates, a reviewer, working links, consistent facts, reviews, a real address and phone, a secure fast site. Trust is the one Google says matters most.

AI assistants work the same way. When ChatGPT or Google AI decide whether to name a firm, they look for a person, credentials they can verify elsewhere, and content that is current and corroborated. Section 6 shows what that means for you.

What the site tells them about your lawyers

Your credentials are genuinely strong: barristers authorised by the Bar Standards Board for Direct Public Access and to conduct litigation, alongside litigation and construction solicitors. Almost none of it is in a form Google or AI can read. Here is what they find instead.

1. Eighteen names, no profiles

What it signals: no verifiable lawyer behind any page.

What we found: The team page lists eighteen people, from regulatory barristers to receptionists, in 316 words including navigation. Every "View Full Profile" link points back to /team/.

What it signals: There is no profile page for any barrister or solicitor, and no Person schema, so no byline can resolve to a real lawyer.

2. The regulator is only in the footer

What it signals: the strongest trust fact on the site is the hardest to find.

What we found: "Authorised and regulated by the Bar Standards Board … reference no: 191504" appears once, in the footer, and in no schema.

What it signals: AI cannot connect you to the BSB register, so it cannot confirm you are a regulated legal practice rather than a lead-generation site.

3. Every guide signed by a name Google cannot place

What it signals: Google sees "Krystal Blackwell" as text, not as a lawyer.

What we found: The BlogPosting schema names Krystal Blackwell as author and editor, linked to a WordPress author archive with a placeholder image and no sameAs links.

What it signals: The byline carries no weight, and on a YMYL topic it can count against you.

The blog: forty guides, twenty-two of them from 2026

Six findings from the blog

Fresh, unsigned, off-topic, overlapping, a thin 2025 batch, and good bones

FINDING	DETAIL	WHY IT MATTERS
Fresh	Twenty-two of forty guides were published in 2026, most of them updated in August and September.	A strength. Google and AI weight freshness heavily on legal topics. Keep the cadence.
Unsigned by a lawyer	All forty guides carry the same author account, "Krystal Blackwell", who has no profile, role or credentials on the site.	Advice from an unverifiable author on a legal site is a negative signal under the quality guidelines.
Off-topic	"What are the 5 Cs of food safety: UK business guide" sits among the dispute guides.	It tells Google and AI the site is a general business blog, diluting the specialism.
Overlapping	Guides such as "London construction lawyer: what to check first", "How to choose a construction dispute solicitor in London" and "The contract is not clear" (London) chase the same searches as your London service pages.	They compete with each other and with your own service pages for the same searches.
A thinner 2025 batch	Most of the eighteen guides from September to November 2025 are short, news-style pieces of about a thousand words (Building Safety Levy, Arbitration Act 2025, late payment).	Good topics that need a lawyer's byline, a review date and links into the service pages to earn their keep.
Good bones	The 2026 guides (adjudication checks, JCT contracts, claim versus dispute, debt recovery versus dispute) are substantial and well structured.	These are the easiest wins on the site: sign, review-date, link into the pillars.

What we do about it. A proper profile page for each barrister and solicitor with Person schema linked to the Bar Standards Board or Law Society register, LinkedIn and legal directories, so every byline resolves to a verifiable lawyer. Every guide gets a named lawyer as author or reviewer, a last-reviewed date and Article schema. The forty guides are triaged: sign the strong 2026 ones, merge the overlapping London construction guides, retire the off-topic post, and link every guide into its service pillar. This is part of the Fix step in month one, and it is re-checked every month after.

The three firms Google shows on the map for "construction solicitor croydon" or "commercial lawyer london" are chosen on relevance, distance and prominence, and prominence is mostly reviews. What nobody in London is likely to do, which is where you win

Barrister-led Direct Public Access.

A business can instruct a barrister directly, without a solicitor in between. That is a cost and speed story most dispute firms cannot tell, and AI answers to "how much does a construction dispute cost" can carry it.

Scope and fee before work begins.

Your homepage already says "Know the scope and fee before work begins". Few firms publish a fee answer for adjudication or debt recovery. A firm that does can own the cost question.

Overseas clients.

Pages for overseas law firms, international clients and clients in Oman. "UK dispute lawyer for an overseas company" is a question AI is asked, and few UK firms answer it directly.

Seven days a week.

Office hours of 6am to 10pm every day are listed on the contact page. Disputes do not wait for Monday; say it where the client decides.

Construction and commercial under one roof.

Adjudication, JCT disputes, unpaid invoices, breach of contract and debt recovery. A hub that links them answers the whole question a contractor has, not one part of it.

6 WHAT AI SAYS ABOUT YOU

What AI says about you

How we measure: SE Ranking AI Search tracks which brands and links appear in Google AI Overviews, Google AI Mode, ChatGPT, Perplexity and Gemini answers in the UK. Where you are already winning AI can read the site.

Every major AI crawler we tested (GPTBot, OAI-SearchBot, ClaudeBot, PerplexityBot) gets the page. Many firms block them by accident. You do not.

You speak in questions.

FAQ schema on 26 pages, and guides titled the way people ask: "What is the difference between a claim and a dispute?", "Is construction adjudication the right step?". That is the shape AI answers take.

You publish.

Twenty-two guides in 2026, all with article schema and update dates. Plenty of law firm blogs go quiet for years. Your raw material is already there.

What AI does not know

Where you are.

No office address on the site and none in the schema. Asked for a construction solicitor in Croydon or the City, AI has nothing that places you there, so it names a firm whose address it can confirm.

Who your lawyers are.

Eighteen names on the team page, no profiles, no Person schema, and every guide signed by an author who is not on the team. AI weighs demonstrated expertise heavily, and right now it cannot find any.

That you are regulated.

Your Bar Standards Board authorisation is the fact that separates you from lead-generation sites. It is in one line of footer text and nowhere AI looks for it.

Your AI-citation fix list

Everything AI needs before it will name a firm, what your site gives it today, and when we fix it. Every "today" entry was checked on the live site on 13 October 2026.

WHAT AI NEEDS	TODAY ON YOUR SITE	THE FIX	WHEN
To know where you are	No address on the contact page or in schema; registered address only in the footer	One verified address (or service-area profile), identical on site, schema and Google	Month 1
To know who stands behind the advice	One unverified author account on all 40 guides; no lawyer profiles	A profile and Person schema for each barrister and solicitor; every guide signed or reviewed	Month 1 to 2
To know you are regulated	BSB reference in the footer text only	BSB reference in LegalService schema, linked to the register, on every page	Month 1
To find your services	llms.txt lists only blog posts; 0 of 24 service and location pages	Hand-written llms.txt: services and locations first, then guides	Week 2
To be able to read the site	GPTBot, OAI-SearchBot, ClaudeBot and PerplexityBot all allowed (verified)	Keep it that way through the rebuild	Done
To quote you	FAQ schema on 26 pages; long-form 2026 guides	Answer-first openings, a fee answer per service, named reviewer and date	Month 2 onwards
Others to agree with you	No review platform linked; LinkedIn missing from schema	Reviews, UK legal directories, BSB and Law Society listings, press, all with the same name, address and phone	Month 2 onwards

Awaiting SE Ranking export

In plain English: Businesses now ask ChatGPT and Google AI "who is a good construction dispute solicitor in London" and "how much does adjudication cost". The firms being named have addresses, named lawyers and citations that agree with each other. Your content is good enough to be quoted. The fix list above is what lets AI trust it enough to say your name.

7 THE ACTION PLAN

The action plan

Everything you do, the keywords for each of those services, the local terms on top, and the structure that turns both into authority. Search volumes and difficulty will come from SE Ranking, Google UK; difficulty is 0 to 100, and anything under 20 is winnable within a few months for a well-built page.

7.1 Everything you do: the service inventory

Before any keyword research we listed every service on the site, because each one is a question somebody types into Google or asks an AI.

The full service inventory

Construction, adjudication, payment, commercial, debt recovery, international

GROUP	WHAT YOU OFFER TODAY	WHERE IT LIVES
Construction disputes	Construction disputes; construction contract disputes; JCT, FIDIC and NEC disputes; construction litigation; dispute resolution	Five service pages, one JCT London page
Adjudication	Construction adjudication advice; adjudication in the UK; enforcing an adjudicator's decision in the TCC (guide)	Two overlapping service pages, several guides
Payment	Unpaid construction invoices; retention disputes; late payment; letters before action	One service page, four guides
Commercial disputes	Contentious commercial disputes; breach of contract; business-to-business disputes	Two service pages, one "near me" page, many guides
Debt recovery	Business debt recovery; fixed-fee debt recovery	One service page, three guides
International	International arbitration; overseas clients; overseas law firm partnerships; Oman	Four pages
Non-contentious	Construction solicitors (avoiding disputes)	One page; title needs a factual rewrite

In plain English: you already have more service and location pages than you need. The plan is not more pages. It is fewer, clearer ones, each owning one question, each signed by a lawyer.

7.2 Keyword research: the questions behind each service

For every service above, these are the searches we would build the pillars around. Volumes and difficulty follow from the SE Ranking export.

Keywords for every service

Construction, adjudication, payment, commercial, debt, international

SERVICE	KEYWORDS WORTH OWNING (SEARCHES A MONTH, DIFFICULTY)	PAGE THAT WINS IT
Construction disputes	construction dispute solicitor london; construction lawyer london; construction dispute lawyer Awaiting SE Ranking export	London construction disputes hub
Adjudication	construction adjudication solicitor; adjudication lawyer; enforce adjudication decision Awaiting SE Ranking export	One adjudication pillar (merging the two pages)
Payment	unpaid invoice construction; retention payment dispute; pay less notice Awaiting SE Ranking export	Unpaid invoices pillar
Commercial disputes	commercial litigation solicitor london; breach of contract solicitor; business dispute lawyer Awaiting SE Ranking export	Commercial disputes pillar
Debt recovery	commercial debt recovery solicitor; business debt recovery; letter before action Awaiting SE Ranking export	Debt recovery pillar with the fee answer
International	uk dispute lawyer for overseas company; international arbitration lawyer uk Awaiting SE Ranking export	International hub

7.3 Keyword research: the local layer

Service pages answer the question. Local pages answer "near me". London first, then Croydon, then the overseas audience you already serve.

London (your first pillar)

construction dispute solicitor london, commercial litigation solicitor london

KEYWORD	SEARCHES / MONTH	DIFFICULTY	PAGE WE BUILD
construction dispute solicitor london	Awaiting SE Ranking export		London hub
construction lawyer london	Awaiting SE Ranking export		London hub
jct contract dispute solicitor london	Awaiting SE Ranking export		JCT in London
construction lawyer city of london	Awaiting SE Ranking export		City of London page

Croydon

Your existing Croydon pages and two Croydon guides

construction solicitor croydon	Awaiting SE Ranking export		Croydon page commercial lawyer croydon	Awaiting SE Ranking export		Croydon page
commercial lawyer croydon cost	Awaiting SE Ranking export		Croydon cost guide

7.4 The pillar structure, explained

A pillar is not one "London" page with the area name swapped in. It is a hub page plus a set of supporting pages that each own one question, all linking back to the hub, and all corroborated by a trust layer outside the site. Google and AI then see one firm that answers everything about construction disputes for businesses in London, rather than seven pages that mention it.

HOW A LOCATION PILLAR WORKS

One hub, five supporting pages, the service pillars feeding in, and a trust layer that proves it all to Google and AI.

Every page in the London pillar

Hub, five supporting pages and the trust layer

LAYER	PAGE	TARGET	WHAT IT CONTAINS
Hub	/construction-dispute-solicitor-london/	construction dispute solicitor london, construction lawyer london	Who you are in London, the barrister-led Direct Public Access model, every construction service, scope and fee before work begins, lawyer profiles, reviews, map, FAQs, links to every supporting page. Replaces the overlapping London pages.
Support	/london/jct-contract-disputes/	jct contract dispute solicitor london	The existing JCT London page, focused on one question.
Support	/london/construction-adjudication/	construction adjudication london	How adjudication works for London projects, the TCC, enforcement, timescales, fees.
Support	/london/unpaid-construction-invoices/	unpaid invoice solicitor london	Payment notices, pay less notices, retention, what to do this week.
Support	/construction-lawyer-city-of-london/	construction lawyer city of london	The existing page, linked into the hub.
Support	/construction-solicitor-in-croydon/	construction solicitor croydon	The existing Croydon page, linked into the hub, with the Croydon cost guide.
Trust	Google Business Profile	Maps pack for London and Croydon searches	A verified profile at a real address, services completed, photos, posts, and a review flow that names the service.
Trust	Citations and press	AI corroboration	Bar Standards Board register, Law Society Find a Solicitor, The Legal 500, Chambers, Construction News, Building, local business directories.

A note on the office address. Your site gives a registered address at 7 Bell Yard, London WC2A 2JR, but no office address on the contact page. Google requires a Business Profile address to be somewhere clients can meet you, at least by appointment. If that is true of an office in London or Croydon, everything above is straightforward. If not, we set the profile up as a service-area business for London and the South East, which still gets you into the map results.

7.5 How we make you the authority

Google and AI do not rank firms, they rank evidence. Authority is a set of signals that all say the same thing about the same people, in the same words, in places the firm does not control. Here is what we build for My Commercial Lawyers and where each piece shows up.

The seven authority signals we build

Expert, entity, information gain, reviews, citations, track record, technical trust

SIGNAL	WHAT WE BUILD	WHERE IT WORKS
The expert	A full profile for each barrister and solicitor: call or admission date, regulator, specialism, notable matters, Person schema, and their name on every guide they write or review.	Google E-E-A-T, AI answers that name a lawyer, the "best construction solicitor" queries
The entity	LegalService and LocalBusiness schema with one address, identical name, address, phone and hours on the site, Google, LinkedIn and every directory, plus the BSB reference.	Maps pack, Google AI Mode, ChatGPT and Perplexity citations
Information gain	Pages that say something not already on page one: what an adjudication really costs, a pay less notice checklist, how Direct Public Access works for a business.	AI quotes the page that adds something new. This is how Deen & Co went from zero to 29% of ChatGPT answers.
Social proof	A review flow after every matter, naming the service and the area, on Google and one legal review platform.	Maps prominence, review snippets, "best" queries
Third-party corroboration	UK legal directories, construction trade press, the Bar Standards Board and Law Society registers, LinkedIn.	Referring domains that are UK and legal
The track record	Every guide signed or reviewed by a named lawyer with a last-reviewed date and Article schema; overlapping guides merged; case studies linked to the services.	The E-E-A-T gap closed: Google and AI can connect the byline to the lawyer.
Technical trust	Fast on mobile, labelled forms, no indexed utility pages, a hand-written llms.txt, FAQ schema on every guide.	Rankings, and the Lighthouse scores in Section 3 turning green

7.6 How you dominate London

Page one for "construction dispute solicitor london" has three places a client can tap before they scroll: the Maps pack, the organic results and the AI answer. The plan is built to hold all three.

Win the maps

Today: No address on the site to rank

- ✓ A verified profile at a real address
- ✓ Reviews that name the service
- ✓ Same details on every directory

Win the organic

Today: Seven pages splitting one search

- ✓ One London hub plus five supporting pages
- ✓ Overlapping pages merged and redirected
- ✓ A fast new site

Win the AI answer

Today: No lawyer AI can verify

- ✓ Teach AI where you are
- ✓ Barrister and solicitor profiles
- ✓ UK legal citations and press

Then the same three-slot play is repeated for Croydon, then for the national adjudication and debt recovery searches, using the same hub-and-spoke structure and the same trust layer.

8 THE LEGALBUZZ METHOD

The legalbuzz method

Four steps, in the same order, every month: analyse, fix, build content, build buzz, then report. It is not a project with a finish date. The cycle repeats, and each month's cycle produces the next milestone on the timeline.

01

Analyse

EVERY MONTH

Re-measure every page, keyword, link, enquiry and AI answer, so each cycle starts from what actually moved.

02

Fix

EVERY MONTH

Speed, broken pages, schema, listings, the link profile. Big fixes land in month one, then the site is re-checked monthly.

03

Build content

EVERY MONTH

New pillar and supporting pages with information gain: what adjudication really costs, a pay less notice checklist. Reviewed by your barristers.

04

Build buzz

EVERY MONTH

Citations, press, Google profiles and reviews, plus a monthly check of what ChatGPT and Google AI say about you.

What each month's cycle produces

SIX MONTHS AT A GLANCE

The four steps run every month. These are the workstreams they deliver.

	MONTH 1	MONTH 2	MONTH 3	MONTH 4	MONTH 5	MONTH 6
New site, built free	Months 1 to 2
London construction pillar	From month 1, ongoing
Service pillars	From month 1, ongoing
Croydon, then national	From month 1, location by location
Google Business Profile and Maps pack domination	From month 1, ongoing
Fee and dispute tools		From month 2, ongoing
Authoritative content build		From month 2, ongoing
Build the buzz: citations, press and backlinks		From month 2, ongoing

A new AI-ready website, at no cost

Section 3 showed a homepage that downloads 4 MB, takes almost six seconds to show its main content on a phone, hides its services until screen six and cannot be called with a tap from the top bar. Fixing that build piece by piece costs almost as much as replacing it, and leaves you with Elementor underneath. So with buzzExpansion and buzzInfluence we build My Commercial Lawyers a new site, and we do not charge for it.

Built around the pillars.

Service hubs and location hubs are the architecture, not an afterthought. Every page has one job and links to its hub.

Structured data on every page.

LegalService, LocalBusiness, Person for every barrister and solicitor, Service and Offer (your fixed fees), FAQPage, Review, and the BSB reference. This is how AI reads a site without guessing.

Fast on a phone.

Target Lighthouse performance 90+, server response under half a second, images sized for phones, one light theme instead of a page builder.

Clear about who, where and how much.

Name, address, phone, hours, each lawyer's credentials, the regulator and your fee approach stated once, consistently, in text AI can quote. The Direct Public Access story told plainly.

Built to convert.

Tap-to-call and "Check your dispute options" in the header on every page, services on the first screen, a three-field form instead of seven, nothing covering the headline.

Nothing lost.

Every current page and post migrated with redirects, so the guides keep what they have. Overlapping pages merged into the pillars. WordPress stays yours, and we hand over admin and a short training.

In plain English: Included at no cost with buzzExpansion and buzzInfluence. The site is yours to keep whatever happens afterwards. buzzStarter focuses on your Google Business Profile and the Maps pack, on the existing site.

What we need from you

- Your lawyers' review time. Roughly an hour a fortnight to review and sign off new pages. Everything we write follows the BSB Handbook and the SRA's rules on publicity: no promised outcomes, nothing you would not put your name to.
- Access. WordPress, Google Business Profile, Google Search Console and Analytics. We set up what does not exist.
- A view of the enquiries. Where they come from and which ones become clients, so the reports are about instructions, not traffic.
- One decision on fees. Which services can carry a published fee or fee range, so the cost question has an answer on the page.

How we report

One report a month, led by growth: enquiries and consultations by location and service, calls from Maps, page-one keywords, what AI said about you this month and which pages it cited, what went live, and what is next. Problems are raised with you directly as they happen, not buried in a PDF.

What we measure

CATEGORY	METRICS
Be seen	- Page-one keywords in London, Croydon and nationally - Map pack appearances for London and Croydon searches - Pages cited by Google AI and ChatGPT
Be trusted	- Share of AI answers naming My Commercial Lawyers (baseline from the SE Ranking export) - Google reviews (baseline to confirm) - UK legal citations and press earned
Be chosen	- Enquiries and consultations by location and service - Calls and direction requests from Maps - Enquiry-to-instruction rate

9 SALES PROCESS ANALYSIS

From enquiry to instruction

We bring you the enquiries. Our sales guidance helps your team win them. Included in buzzExpansion: a 30-minute sales process analysis with your team, then a sales and email automation plan that we implement for you.

Business owners with a dispute are stressed, in a hurry and often filling in three or four forms at once. The first firm to have a proper conversation usually wins. The winners get three things right:

They respond first.

Speed shows the client how you'll treat their case.

They make the client feel understood.

Good questions and genuine empathy build trust fast.

They make the next step easy.

A clear, simple path from "hello" to "let's go ahead".

The seven-step enquiry process

01

Respond

WITHIN 5 MINUTES

Call and send an instant acknowledgement.

02

Connect

FIRST 20 SECONDS

Introduce yourself, build rapport, set the agenda.

03

Discover

LISTEN 70%

Fact-finding and qualifying questions.

04

Advise

CLEAR AND SIMPLE

How you'd help, the steps and the cost.

05

Handle concerns

NEVER ARGUE

Listen, acknowledge, explore, respond.

06

Close

ON THE CALL

Agree the next step and take the instruction.

07

Follow up

UP TO 30 DAYS

A set sequence until you get a clear answer.

The follow-up sequence we automate

Most instructions come after the first contact

WHEN	HOW	WHAT
Instantly	Email and SMS	Acknowledge and promise a call
5 minutes	Call	First call, voicemail if missed
10 minutes	SMS	"Sorry I missed you. Book here."
Same day	Call and email	Second call, then the quote
Day 1	Call and SMS	"Did you get my quote?"
Day 3	Email	Helpful guide plus reviews
Day 7	Call and SMS	"Still need help with this?"
Day 14 to 30	Email	Quote held open, final check-in

What the 30-minute analysis covers

Speed, questions, objections, closing and follow-up

AREA	WHAT WE LOOK AT
Speed to lead	How fast new enquiries get a call, and who owns them each day
The first call	Introduction, agenda and the questions your team asks
Dispute tone	Calm, commercial and one clear first step
Objections	"Another firm is cheaper", "I need to think about it", "I need to talk to my business partner"
Closing	Summarise, check concerns, ask, then send the engagement letter and payment link on the call
Follow-up	The email and SMS sequence above, set up in your CRM

What we track: speed to lead, contact rate, conversion rate, drop-off point, cost per instruction and lost-lead reasons.

In plain English: We get you seen and trusted. This makes sure the enquiries we bring turn into signed clients, not missed calls and unanswered quotes.

10 WORKING TOGETHER

Working together

Three ways to start. One clear goal: more instructions. Every option is legal-only, reported on enquiries, and starts with a six-month term, then rolls month to month.

11 FULL AUDIT: CASE STUDIES AND YOUR GOOGLE RANKINGS

What this looked like for other firms

We are measured on one number: enquiries that turn into instructions. Here are three clients and one long-term partner, each with what they do, what we did, and what it brought in. Every figure is from the firm's own reports and approved by the client. Full write-ups: legalbuzz.co/case-studies.

The enquiry scoreboard

FIRM	WHAT THEY DO	ENQUIRIES BEFORE	ENQUIRIES AFTER	TIME
J Scott & Co	Conveyancing and private client, Maidenhead High Street	15 a month	77 a month (+413%)	6 months
Deen & Co	Settlement agreements, Canary Wharf, London	A handful, none tracked	33 in a single month, 29% from ChatGPT	3 months
Signature Law	Family law, Romford, Essex	Baseline, January	+300%	6 months
conveyancing-solicitor.co.uk	National solicitor directory, England and Wales	Measured on visibility, not enquiries	+71% search impressions, 48% from town pages	8 months

Enquiries are each firm's own reconciled monthly count: calls, forms and emails that reached a fee earner. Not clicks, not impressions.

J Scott & Co, Maidenhead: 15 to 77 enquiries a month

A familiar starting point. A respected firm with a website that had already been rebuilt once and still brought in no work: 50 visits a month from Google, ranking for its own name and little else, and never named by ChatGPT. We rebuilt and relaunched the site at the end of January 2026, then ran the monthly cycle.

+1,356% GOOGLE VISITS A MONTH, JANUARY TO JULY (50 TO 728)	+413% ENQUIRIES A MONTH (15 TO 77), THE FIRM'S OWN RECONCILED FIGURE	0 TO 687 TIMES AI ASSISTANTS NAMED THE FIRM IN ONE MONTH

- Months one to two. Site health 0 to 100 percent, schema added, Google Business Profile rebuilt to 84 out of 100 with 65 five-star reviews, listings corrected.
- Months two to six. A page for every town around Maidenhead and a guide for every buyer question. Searches it appears for went from 133 to 342, with 150 in Google's top spots.
- Why it matters for My Commercial Lawyers. A decent-looking site that was not being chosen. Clear location pages, schema and a rebuilt Google profile did the work, exactly as the London pillar is designed to.

Deen & Co, Canary Wharf: 33 enquiries in one month

A boutique settlement agreement specialist in one of the most competitive legal markets in the UK, competing with national firms on far stronger domains. We built a Redundancy Hub that publishes a page for an employer's staff the moment job cuts are announced, and an Answers hub built from 473 real employee discussions.

16X MONTHLY GOOGLE CLICKS, JULY TO SEPTEMBER 2026 (62 TO 1,021)	7,017 AI SEARCH CITATIONS, 25 TIMES THE NEAREST COMPETITOR	33 GENUINE ENQUIRIES IN A SINGLE MONTH

- Why it matters for My Commercial Lawyers. A London specialist with a clear niche beat bigger firms by answering the exact question people ask, when they ask it. Your version of that question is cost and next step: "how much does adjudication cost", "what to do about an unpaid construction invoice". Your guides already answer it. They need a lawyer's name on them.

Signature Law, Romford: a family law firm, enquiries up 300%

A family-law-led firm opposite Romford station, Law Society Family Law Advanced accredited, founded by a specialist of fifteen years. Good work, quietly overlooked online in a crowded Essex market. We fixed the site and the map presence, then built family law service pages (child arrangements, financial settlement, mediation) and a location page for every town across Havering and the Essex commuter belt.

+300% ENQUIRIES AGAINST THE JANUARY BASELINE	+3,980% KEYWORDS RANKING ON GOOGLE	PAGE ONE LOCAL FAMILY LAW PAGES FOR THE TOWNS THE FIRM SERVES

Why it matters for My Commercial Lawyers. A specialist firm with strong lawyers and little verifiable footprint online, fixed with service pillars plus town pages. The same structure works for London and Croydon.

conveyancing-solicitor.co.uk: the pillar model at national scale

A long-term partner with a national footprint: a location silo with a page for every town in England and Wales, local fee pages and home-mover guides, on top of technical fixes and citations.

+71% SEARCH IMPRESSIONS IN 2026, JANUARY TO AUGUST	29% BETTER AVERAGE GOOGLE RANKING ACROSS THE SITE	48% OF ALL SEARCH VISIBILITY NOW COMES FROM THE TOWN PAGES

Why it matters for My Commercial Lawyers. The pillar model at scale: half of what the site earns comes from pages that name a place. London, then Croydon, then national, is the same model at your size.

In summary: what we did, and what changes for My Commercial Lawyers

The side-by-side summary

The clients above, and My Commercial Lawyers today and after this plan

	THE CLIENTS ABOVE	MCL TODAY (VERIFIED 13 OCTOBER 2026)	MCL, AFTER THIS PLAN
The site	Rebuilt or fixed first: fast, readable by AI, schema on every page	Elementor build, Lighthouse 45 on mobile, 4 MB homepage; good FAQ and article schema	New AI-ready site at no cost, Lighthouse 90+, entity and Person schema throughout
Location	A page for every town served, linked into a hub	Croydon, City and "near me" pages, no office address, seven pages splitting London	London hub plus five supporting pages, then Croydon and national
Services	A pillar per practice area answering what clients type	Thirteen service pages, three overlapping	Five service pillars, each owning its questions
Trust	Named authors, reviews built steadily, citations and press	One unverified author on 40 guides; testimonials with no platform; BSB status in the footer only	Named barristers and solicitors as authors, a review engine, BSB reference in schema, UK legal citations
AI	Tracked monthly; J Scott named 687 times, Deen & Co 7,017 citations	All AI crawlers allowed; llms.txt lists no service pages; share of voice Awaiting SE Ranking export	Share of voice tracked monthly against the London firms
Measured on	Enquiries: 15 to 77, 33 in a month, +300%	Baseline to record in week 1	Enquiries and consultations, by location and service, every month

WHAT WE STAND FOR

The three pillars of legalbuzz

ONE

be seen.

Present where clients look

Google, the map pack and the AI answers your next client actually reads.

TWO

be trusted.

Evidence people and models believe

Named authors, genuine reviews and citations that stand up to scrutiny.

THREE

be chosen.

Measured in instructions won

Not impressions, not clicks, not vanity rankings. Fee income.

WHO STANDS BEHIND THIS PAGE

Written by the people who ran the enquiries, not by a content team legalbuzz is run by George Levett and PJ Singh. They met at a City of London law firm, where PJ led sales operations and George ran digital growth, and went on to build Conveyancer Plus, the UK's first outsourced conveyancing sales team. That is where the data on this site comes from: 36,463 closed conveyancing enquiries across 22 UK firms, which showed that 42.8% of instructions are won on the day of enquiry and that conversion varies 17.6x between firms on the same lead source. Every page here is written by a named founder, checked against the SRA Code, dated and reviewed.
